Corruption is not a new phenomenon in India. It has been prevalent in society since ancient times. History reveals that it was present even in the Mauryan period. Great scholar, Kautilya, mentions the pressure of forty types of corruption in his contemporary society. It was practiced even in the Mughal and Sultanate period. When the East India Company took control of the country, corruption reached a new height. Corruption in India has become so common that people now are averse to thinking of public life with it.

Corruption has been defined variously by scholars. But the simple meaning of it is that corruption implies perversion of morality, integrity, character or duty out of mercenary motives, i.e. bribery, without any regard to honor, right, and justice. In other words, undue favor for anyone for some monetary or other gains is corruption. Simultaneously, depriving the genuinely deserving of their right or privilege is also a corrupt practice. Shrinking from one's duty or dereliction of duty are also forms of corruption. Besides, thefts, wastage of public property constitute varieties of corruption. Dishonesty, exploitation, malpractices, scams, and scandals are various manifestations of corruption.

Great books do not spring from something accidental in the great men who write them. They are the effluence of their very core, the expression of the life itself of the authors. And literature cannot be said to have served its true purpose until it has been translated into the actual life of him who reads. It is the vast reservoir of true ideas and emotions.

In a world deprived of literature, the broad, the noble, the generous would tend to disappear and life would be correspondingly degraded because the wrong idea and the petty emotion would never feel the upward pull of the ideas and emotions of genius. Only by conceiving a society without literature can it be clearly realized that the function of literature is to raise the plain towards the top level of the peaks.

Literature exists so that where a man has lived finely, ten thousand may afterward live finely. It is a means of life, it concerns the living essence.

Questions-

Q25) How have great books been written?

- A) By men who think too much.
- B) By great men who write them.
- C) By an accidental means.
- D) By men who imagine sometimes.

Q26) What does the words "effluence of their very core" mean?

- A) Expression which is the outflow from the heart of the author.
- B) Expression which is the influence from people's talk.
- C) Expression of things that the author may have thought of.
- D) Expression that the author wrote accidentally.

Q27) Literature cannot be said to have served its true purpose until it has been _____ into the actual life of the person who reads.

- A) Transfigured
- B) Transgressed
- C) Translated
- D) Transmuted

Q28) If a world is deprived of literature, what would happen to the broad, the noble and the generous?

- A) They would worry themselves into petty issues.
- B) They would be living a free life without care.
- C) They would tend to disappear and life would be correspondingly degraded.
- D) They would celebrate life.

Q29) What is the function of literature?

- A) To raise everything so that it does not sink to the sea level.
- B) To raise the plain above sea level.
- C) To raise the plain towards the top level of the peaks.
- D) To raise the peaks towards the highest mountain.
